

My family and I treasure listening to KLOVE radio stations, where ever we travel around the U.S.

I am very concerned that the FCC may replace some of the KLOVE translators with Low Power FM.

I believe KLOVE provides a positive, encouraging services to the public through their music and messages.

Is there some way to offer Low Power FM service without replacing or removing KLOVE translators?

--Tim Bates